

Dr. Bress is a Certified LabVIEW Architect and a Certified Professional Instructor of National Instruments training courses. He is a consultant with Exponent, a leading scientific and engineering consulting firm. He has a BS and MS in Mechanical Engineering from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, a PhD in Mechanical Engineering from the University of Michigan, and is a licensed Professional Engineer. Dr. Bress can be reached at tbress@exponent.com.